

BY JULIA BORCHERTS, FOR REDEYE | METROMIX@TRIBUNE.COM » GET MORE EAT, DRINK, DO, IDEAS AT REDEYECHICAGO.COM

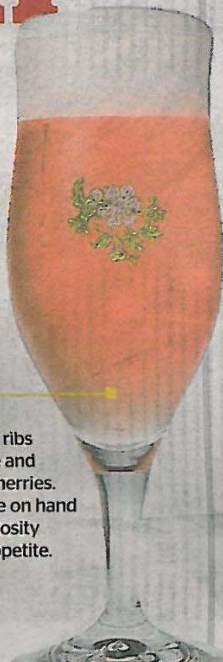

EAT DRINK

LIVELY BITES

Nana

3267 S. Halsted St.
312-929-2486

The restaurant launches its 2012 Spirited Dinner Series with a three-course meal featuring produce from Michigan's Seedling and ale pairings from Chicago's 5 Rabbit Brewery, including beer-braised short ribs with chipotle mole and pickled seedling cherries. Both producers are on hand to satisfy your curiosity along with your appetite. 7-9 p.m. $50.

SPIRITED AWAY

Prasino

1846 W. Division St.
312-878-1212

Try concoctions with names like Hum Tea Punch and Gin Blossom at the Spirit Education Series, which includes a three-course dinner featuring braised beef cheek and four cocktails from local distillers Hum and North Shore, plus a discussion with Hum ambassador Annie McDonald. 6:30 p.m. $48 plus tax and gratuity.

GALLERY GLAM

Society Art Gallery

2140 W. Fulton St.
Party in style at Urban Fetes' #MIXANDMINGLE with hosted cocktails by Remy Martin and Auchentoshan scotch, a fashion show, complimentary appetizers, live jazz and a DJ. All you need to bring is your fabulous self—and, if you wish, canned goods to donate to the Greater Chicago Food Depository. 8 p.m.-midnight. $20.

BIG PICTURE

FREE

Claudia Cassidy Theater at the Chicago Cultural Center

78 E. Washington St. 312-744-6630
If everyone from Chris Brown to the Laptop Shooting Dad gets you riled up, see a broader world view at the Peace on Earth Film Festival, which kicks off Thursday. The 37 documentaries, short narratives and animations address subjects ranging from African civil war to Proposition 8 to two brothers who chase their dream to meet Dolly Parton. Schedule at peaceonearthfilmfestival.org

GOSSIP GIRLS (AND BOYS)

Chicago Dramatists

1105 W. Chicago Ave. 312-633-0630
Get the scoop on everything at "Fulton Street Sessions," a world-premiere cabaret revue by TUTA Theatre Chicago, which reflects current headlines and social, cultural and political gossip. Then celebrate the company's 10th anniversary—and trade rumors with the cast—at a reception. 8 p.m. $40.

REDEYE TIP OF THE DAY

Both Diamanda Galas shows at the Museum of Contemporary Art are sold out, but an in-person wait list opens at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.